

Brianna Vincent

My name is Brianna Vincent and I am a junior at Neah-Kah-Nie High School. I hope to attend the University of Oregon and study psychology. I enjoy going to the beach and doing things outside. The reason I decided to, in a sense, compare and contrast our relationship with water in Oregon to the water in Africa, is because I don't think people actually realize how they live there. And if one person is remotely inspired after reading the essay to go out and help the water crisis, I would be satisfied
